

THOUSANDS OF SHOPMEN STRIKE!

400,000 Railroad Shop Men Are Out

Ten O'Clock Comes and Union Men Obey Strike Call, Laying Down Their Tools—Local Men Join Suspension of Work.

Approximately thirty-four railway shopmen struck in Danville at ten o'clock this morning, their action being the first definite news that the strike of this classification of labor men had not been averted by overnight effort. About fifteen shopmen of the Southern Railway laid down their tools and quietly went home, while at the shops of the Danville and Western Railway, a subsidiary of the Southern, nineteen out of a full force of thirty men went out. Those of the thirty who remained were men in classifications not affected by the strike order, it was said.

At Southern Railway headquarters, controlling the Northern Division, it was said that the walk out by the men would not affect the operation of passenger or freight trains. The strike if it gets no worse than it is will run on for several days until the amount of work known as running repairs begins to swamp the available force. Local freight will probably be the first to suffer. An entirely optimistic view was expressed at headquarters where it was intimated that office men who had had railway experience would take off their coats and go to work for the company if necessary. "We expect to run trains without interruption" was the message given to the press.

Major Theo Parker, superintendent of the Danville and Western, said this morning that he was notified last night that the shopmen would quit at ten o'clock today and at that hour the men struck. Major Parker said there would be no interruption of service and stated that the company would adopt the policy of hiring men to take the place of those who have gone out.

E. B. Roach, chairman of the committee in charge of the strike movement here was reached this afternoon, and he said that between 50 and 60 men had walked out in Danville. "If there is a union man in the classification called out who has not answered the strike call, I do not know it," he said. He stated that besides shopmen, answering the call are machinists, boiler men, car men, blacksmiths and helpers, and they are prepared to stay out until orders are received from headquarters.

He would not venture any assertion as to the number of men who are out, in the Northern Division, neither could he say how long it would be for rail traffic to feel the effect of the strike.

Schoolfield Police Testify For Gamble

Two Members of Force Declare On Stand Spry Was Dangerous Man and That He Had Threatened to Kill Gamble.

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 1.—States Gamble, on trial for his life for the murder of M. C. Spry on May 29, took the stand in his own defense yesterday afternoon and declared that he shot only when he thought his own life was in danger.

Gamble was on the stand for about 45 minutes and in the opinion of many people in the courtroom, made an excellent witness in his own defense.

Spry, said Gamble, had slipped his hand in the inside of his coat as if to draw a weapon before the shooting occurred. Gamble also declared that Spry had threatened his life several years ago.

S. P. Walker, who declared he saw the shooting, corroborated the statement made by Gamble that Spry had slipped his hand inside of his coat just before Gamble fired. Walker also declared that he saw some man go to the body immediately after Spry had fallen and lean over him.

M. S. Hopper, a member of the Schoolfield, Va., police force, and D. L. Kennedy, also of Schoolfield, testified that sometime in May, 1920, Spry told them that he intended to kill Gamble if it took him 10 years, that Gamble had "turned him up for stealing an automobile, and that he intended to get even." Both men testified that they had informed Gamble of the threat. Both declared that they considered Spry a dangerous man.

In direct examination Gamble declared that he did not know until a short time before the shooting that Spry was in the city. He met him at the Huffine hotel. Spry threatened him, he said, and he went into the Huffine hotel barber shop in an effort to evade Spry. But Spry followed. Finally Spry left the barber shop and in a few minutes, Gamble also left. He met Spry, according to his testimony, a few steps from the barber shop door where the shooting took place. He did not know how many times he shot. He thought, he said, that he shot four times, but officers told him the gun was fired five times.

Gamble told of his movements for

It is rumored that the commission entrusted with the drawing of the new constitution for the country has decided that the national assembly, which is to be elected soon, should consist of two bodies, a Chamber of Deputies and a Senate. The members of the former are to be elected by popular vote, while members of the latter are to be chosen by princes, nobles, royal family, ex-premiers, ministers, high spiritual chiefs and leading notables of whom 50 are to be elected and 30 nominated.

The commission will provide for the creation of a supreme court modeled after that of the United States, with power to pass on the constitutionality of the laws of the land.

Women to Show Their Worth in Business World

NEW YORK, July 1.—The New York League of Business and Professional Women has decided to hold its Exposition of Women's Activities here on September 1 to prove that women have won an enviable position in the business, professional and industrial world.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sears, president of the league, which already has opened offices to prepare for the exposition in announcing plans for the exposition, said:

"We are no longer an experiment in the business world. We are here to stay and it is up to us to show that we are to be an asset and not a liability in the business world."

"Our position plan is to urge, encourage, and help, but it takes business women to show courage. We will present not only the varied vocational opportunities now open to women—over 60 such vocations—and we will point out just how every young woman should be equipped for her job as a wife and mother—the biggest and most important job of all—as well as for her business career. We find that a well-trained business girl makes a most successful wife and mother."

"When we began the exposition we had the thought that we would present an adequate display of the manner in which women were successfully entering every field of commerce and profession; but we were forced to widen our plan of campaign from the start. We found that our women were identified with all the great industries of the world—agriculture, industry and so opened the exposition to any firm that has women associated in its production, distribution or sales departments. We have, for instance, women manufacturers of paint, varnish and floor composition of presidents of confectionery, machinery and radio firms. We have landscape gardeners, purchasing agents, credit managers, cutlery workers and dozens of other lines that were unheard of for women a few years ago."

"We do not propose to display any spirit of competition in our exhibition—our exhibitors, rather, display a tendency to unite in groups to show just what women are doing in such varied lines as manufacturers, banking, investment, building, advertising, insurance, etc."

Martinsville Visited By a Terrible Storm

A long distance telephone message received here today from Martinsville told of a terrific thunderstorm which visited that section between ten and eleven o'clock last night. The electrical display was seen from Danville, the sky being illuminated constantly with the vivid flashes. Torrents of rain fell and swelled all the creeks in that neighborhood with surprising rapidity. The report said that several trees and buildings were struck in Martinsville but that no severe damage had been wrought.

Miss Verna Miller, state secretary of Epworth Leagues will speak to the Mount Vernon Escaladers at 7:15 Sunday. All interested young people are cordially invited.

Ex-Senator, 100, and Still Spry, Visits Capitol

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—Ex-Senator Cornelius Cole, 100 years old, of California, who was rounding out a long career of public service when "Uncle Joe" Cannon was in his legislative swaddling clothes, paid a visit to the Senate today and discussed the live issues of the day in a youthful and lively manner.

He also paid a visit to the White House, accompanied by Senator Shortridge of California.

Dressed in an up-to-date tropical suit and wearing a Panama hat elegant enough to arouse the envy of J. Edgar Davis, the venerable statesman stepped spryly into the Senate and took a seat in the rear of the chamber to listen to the debate for a while. It was his first visit in 25 years. None of the "young fellows" present were old enough to remember Mr. Cole, but some of them had heard of him and he was soon surrounded by a congratulating throng.

Mr. Cole was a "forty-niner." He was born in Lodi, N. Y., on Sept. 17, 1822, but he went to California in the gold rush. After working a year mining, he was elected to Congress in 1863. He was a close personal friend of Lincoln and went with Lincoln to Gettysburg in November, 1863, when the young emancipator delivered his famous Gettysburg address.

He was elected to the Senate and served from 1867 to 1873, during which time he participated in the impeachment trial of President Johnson and took an active part in many other stirring scenes of the reconstruction days.

After shaking hands for a while and listening to the tariff debate he went to the press gallery, where he told newspaper men there was nothing to the widely prevalent belief that the Senate had deteriorated as a result of the direct primary. In fact, he said, no change worthy of note in the Senate except that it was considerably larger.

Asked "how to live to be a hundred," Mr. Cole said it would be impossible to prescribe general rules. "For my own part," he said, "I have always tried to avoid extremes and excesses."

Louis Robertson Entailed Again

Louis Robertson, colored, who for years has been a constant inmate of the Danville police circles, is again having dealings with the law, this time being charged with operating a disorderly and ill-governed house. The case was called this morning but was continued until next Thursday.

The new charge against Louis is the result of a visit to his place on Newton street last night by police officers. The bluecoats claim they found a good deal of misbehavior going on. Besides the colored people, both men and women, several white men were found there. The police claim they found plenty of evidence and charges were brought against all parties, some for statutory offenses and others for disorderly conduct. Robertson was charged with operating a disorderly house.

Fuller particulars will be given those interested by those applying to the office of the Community Welfare Association in the Municipal Hall.

Four Courts Has Been Surrendered By O'Connor

DUBLIN, June 30.—(Associated Press.)—Rory O'Connor, Liam Mellows and the other leaders of the disaffected Republican army troops at four o'clock this afternoon surrendered the Four Courts building, which had been the scene of a free fight carried out by forces of the Free State army since last Wednesday morning.

All those inside were made prisoners by the provisional government forces. Lined up four deep along the quays, the prisoners were marched away under a strong guard. Altogether there were 110 of them. One of them waved the Republican tricolor while many others were singing the "Soldier's Song" in Irish.

Lieutenant General O'Connell, assistant chief of staff of the government forces, to the kidnapping of whom by the O'Connors is attributed the attack of the government on the Four Courts, was among those who came out of the building after the surrender. He had been imprisoned in a cellar out of reach of the shot and shell that had raked the building since hostilities began Wednesday morning. The surrender was made to Brigadier General O'Daly. It had been preceded by negotiations for a truce, made by some of the leaders of the disaffected troops at the instance of a priest who was with them inside the building.

Some time prior to the capitulation there were deafening explosions that shook the center of the city. The detonation sent up a huge cloud of black smoke, filled with debris and portions of burning documents. Then it was seen that the building was on fire. Portions of the papers picked up in the streets showed that they once had belonged in the offices of the land registry and the registry of deeds.

The fire brigade promptly turned out, and on their understanding that the firemen would not be fired on by either side, volunteered to assist in removing the wounded from the building. Every available ambulance in the city was requisitioned and were whizzing through the streets of Dublin throughout the afternoon.

Between 25 and 30 wounded soldiers were awaiting medical attention when the doctors from the nearest hospital and the ambulance men hurried to the scene.

Plea Is Made for Games on Sunday

LONDON, July 1.—Many people are demanding that the London county council allow the playing of cricket, tennis and other games in the parks on Sundays. The movement has the support of most of the newspapers, and not a few of the clergy. They say that if people go to church in the morning, they ought to be allowed to play games in the afternoon.

"London spent last Sunday out of doors," says The Advertiser. "It was a perfect Sunday for games. Every private cricket ground, bowling green and tennis ground was occupied. The only grounds where tennis was forbidden were those controlled by the London county council. While members of the county council themselves play tennis on Sunday, they prohibit others from doing so in the public parks. Thousands of young men and women who would have played but for the county council kill-joy ban, dawdled about doing nothing."

"It is the same with cricket. The thousands of pitches controlled by the county council are not allowed to be used on Sunday, and boys were standing about smoking cigarettes who would have been playing games but for the Sabbatarian fetter: 'No games on Sundays.' There is a growing storm of public anger at this prohibition of Sunday games."

"I shall certainly see the triumph of this movement for Sunday games," said a reformer who is behind the movement. "In England every Briton has the right to get drunk, if he wants to, between certain hours on Sunday. It is absurd to permit a man to get drunk on Sunday but prohibit him from playing games in the public parks on Sunday. A man cannot get drunk while playing games. Therefore I am for games on Sunday, if only in the interest of temperance."

House Adjourns Until August 15

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The House of Representatives adjourned tonight at 9:49 o'clock until August 15, thus giving members opportunity to return home to look after their campaigns while the Senate still is at work on the tariff.

Democrats, opposing adjournment almost solidly, forced a roll call. The vote to quit was 171 to 43, with two votes "present."

The Democrats having voted with their fingers crossed, I now move that the House be adjourned," said Representative Mondell, the Republican leader.

There was a shout and a wild race to taxicabs waiting outside to rush members to outgoing trains.

In opposing adjournment Democrats insisted the House ought to stay in session and act on Henry Ford's offer for lease of Mussel Shoals.

Montague, Democrat, Virginia, Mr. Mondell failed to get through a request that all members be given five days in which to extend their remarks in the Congressional Record on any subject relating to legislation.

To enable the House to clean up its affairs, a technical session of the Senate was held at 9 o'clock for signature of last minute bills by the Senate's presiding officer.

Year's Assessment Nets City $40,000 More in Revenue

The city tax books for real and personal property for 1922 have now been completed and the accounts are in the hands of the city collector ready for collection.

The net result of the year's assessment shows a gain over last year of $40,000 in revenue for the city. This is considered a handsome showing, considering the general shrinkage in value of inventories of merchants, manufacturers, tobacco dealers, and other large firms, in the process of getting back to normalcy.

F. G. Ragland, Commissioner of Revenue, commenting on the result, today said that this gain in city revenue was not produced by raising the assessments on property, which had already been taxed at a fair valuation, many of the largest accounts on the books being heavily cut down for reasons stated above, but was produced by a close and energetic hunt to uncover and place on the books, property which had heretofore escaped taxation. He said that there were other contributory causes to this successful campaign. The finance committee of the Council he stated, was prompt to enact every amendment to the ordinances to facilitate and forward the work of his office, which he recommended, and in the re-organization of the office at the beginning of his term, he employed young, intelligent and active assistants who went to the work with interest and enthusiasm. Another important factor, Mr. Ragland says, was the cheerful responses of taxpayers to the demands made on them, which were willingly met, thus enabling the commissioner to get the books out ahead of time.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sensitive Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a friend indeed."

—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound be a "friend indeed" to you.

A startling new fact about tire rubber

"SEE the rubber of that tire? It looks pretty much like any other tire rubber, doesn't it? Yet if you compared it with an ordinary tire under a microscope, you would see a great difference. Ordinary tire rubber is filled with 'lumps.' Thermoid Rubber is even and fine-textured. That's a very important difference. It is the whole secret of the long wear of Thermoid Tires."

Two chemists and two practical tire-builders in the Thermoid Rubber Company spent months in laboratory work and road tests. They finally perfected Crocid—a rubber compound, that reduces "lumpy" formations to a minimum. Crocid Compound is to-day used exclusively in the manufacture of Thermoid Tires. Made with Crocid Compound, Thermoid Tires are protected against rapid wear—against unnecessary sand, blisters and blow-outs. You are invited to call and see these tires for yourself—also the famous Crocid Compound Tubes.
